GENERAL INFORMATION

ALL those textbooks currently approved for use in Manitoba are printed in RED. Recommended materials are printed in BLACK immediately below the approved textbooks.

In some cases, books may be out-of-print and no longer available. Schools may continue to use these books if they have sufficient copies.

If the book is out-of-print, it is marked "Out of Print".

Where the Textbook Bureau has the book in stock, a stock number is listed.

If the book is not carried in stock, the letters "NS" are shown in place of a stock number.

Titles for use in the Occupational Entrance Program Pattern are shown in a separate group under the subject heading section (first part of the catalogue) and with the notation "OEP" after them in the alphabetical section (second part of the catalogue).

From time to time books are removed from the approved textbook listing because of changes in the curriculum. When this is to happen, the item is marked with an asterisk * and will be shown in this manner for two years prior to removal from the list so that schools have lead time to make adjustments and will not unnecessarily order material which is due to be removed from the listing. Such material may continue to be used as supplementary material if the content remains compatible with the revised curriculum. Items marked  will not be listed again in the catalogue.

Where a subject, i.e. Social Studies, is currently under revision and it is likely that textual changes will be recommended, the subject heading has been marked (+) to draw this to the attention of readers.

"CURRICULA MATERIALS" GRANT

This grant is for textbooks, library books, reference books, workbooks, film strips, slides, charts, maps, motion pictures, phonodiscs, audio tapes, recordings, testing material, computer software, and other such instructional materials. MISCELLANEOUS SECTION

These materials are listed and/or carried in stock at the Bureau for the conveniences of teachers. Most of this material has not yet been reviewed by the Department of Education. Administrators and teachers are requested to select carefully from this section.

CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT & IMPLEMENTATION BRANCH

APPROVED & RECOMMENDED MATERIALS FOR PROGRAMS OF STUDY K-12

APPROVED TEXTBOOKS —
Books listed in this category are those which have been identified and selected by curriculum committees as primary resource material for the teaching of a particular course. ALL THESE ITEMS APPEAR IN RED. These books have the approval of the Minister of Education for use in schools. However, because of the wide selection of materials identified, the final responsibility for selecting materials from the approved listing for local use rests with the school board.

RECOMMENDED MATERIALS —
Recommended materials are those items which have also been identified and selected by curriculum committees as support materials. When textbooks do not contain all of the content covered by the curriculum guide, they may not be listed as primary support or "approved". Nevertheless, they may be an excellent resource for a portion of the course and as such, they have been recommended as additional support material. In most cases, classroom sets of these materials would not be required. Listed in this category are teacher's editions of approved textbooks and various teacher and student resources including audio visual materials. For your convenience, some of these items are specifically identified as Teacher Resource (TR) or Student Resource (SR).

Recommended materials are in BLACK print.

ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE

Books listed in the Adult E.S.L. Section were selected on the basis of recommendations submitted by adult E.S.L. teachers and on current levels of usage for specific titles.

Books listed under the Children's Section were selected on the basis of reviews carried out by an E.S.L. Material Selection Committee and current level of usage for specific titles.

PROCEDURES FOR ORDERING BOOKS FOR ADULT E.S.L. CLASSES

Under a federal-provincial agreement, language textbooks used for teaching English to adult immigrants are supplied free of charge to school divisions authorized to offer adult E.S.L. courses by the Manitoba Education. All school divisions are responsible for exercising control over textbooks to ensure inventory management.

1. The Secretary Treasurer of a school division must first obtain authorization to offer Adult E.S.L. courses. The request must be submitted to the Co-ordinator of Adult Language Training, Adult & Continuing Education Branch, Manitoba Education, Room 407-185 Carlton St., Winnipeg, Manitoba R3C 3J1.

2. Appropriate school division staff must prepare the M.T.B. order forms:
    - pink, for books listed in the catalogue with a stock number
    - white (special), for books not listed or shown with the letters NS instead of a stock number

3. The forms should have the "sold to" and "ship to" portions completed as follows:

SOLD TO:	SHIP TO:
Manitoba Education Adult & Continuing Education Branch Room 407 - 185 Carlton Street Winnipeg, Manitoba R3C 3J1	Name of School Division Name/Address of Person responsible for receiving books and returning packing slips(s).

4. The Secretary-Treasurer of the school division must sign the completed book order and send it to:
   Co-ordinator of Adult Language Training
   Manitoba Education
   Room 407 - 185 Carlton Street
   Winnipeg, Manitoba
   R3C 3J1

5. When the books arrive, the person receiving them on behalf of the school division must sign the packing slip (or invoice if that is what accompanies the shipment) to indicate the goods have been received. He/she must then return the packing slip (or invoice) to the Co-ordinator of Adult Language Training. (see #4 above for address).

NOTE: If a shipment arrives with no packing slip (or invoice) please notify the Co-ordinator of Adult Language Training in writing giving the titles and quantities received and the date the order was placed.

TEACHER REFERENCE

NOTE: These will not normally be kept in stock at Manitoba Text Book Bureau, special order forms will be required. Only one copy of each ordered text will be approved per institution.

GUIDE DE COMMANDE

TOUS LES DOCUMENTS ÉNUMÉRÉS DANS CE CATALOGUE PEUVENT ÊTRE COMMANDÉS AU CENTRE DES MANUELS SCOLAIRES DU MANITOBA.

Les prix peuvent changer sans préavis.

Les documents précédés d'un numéro sont en stock. Ils peuvent être commandés en remplissant la formule de commande rose en cinq copies, fournies par le Centre des manuels scolaires du Manitoba.

Vous pouvez obtenir ces formules auprès de votre directeur ou directrice d'école, du bureau de votre division scolaire, ou sur demande au Centre des manuels scolaires.

Si un document n'est pas en stock mais est disponible chez l'éditeur, il est précédé des lettres "PS" signifiant "pas en stock" et est suivi de l'abréviation pour la maison d'édition.

Si un document est épuisé, il est précédé d'un blanc et est suivi de la notation "épuisé".

FORMULE DE COMMANDE ROSE

1. Énumérer les documents en ordre numérique, comme suit:
   a) Numéro du document en dépôt
   b) Description
   c) Quantité
   d) Prix
   e) Total
   Votre demande sera remplie plus rapidement si tous les documents sont commandés en ordre numérique, puisque les documents en dépôt sont déjà présentés dans ce même ordre numérique.

2. Enlever la dernière copie de la commande afin de la mettre dans les filières de l'école.

3. Envoyer les quatre autres copies avec les papiers carbones au bureau de votre division scolaire.

4. Le bureau de votre division scolaire signera la formule de commande, assignera un numéro d'achat si nécessaire, enlèvera la dernière copie de la formule de commande pour leur filière, et fera suivre les trois autres copies au Centre des manuels scolaires du Manitoba.

FORMULE DE COMMANDE BLANCHE

Pour commander tout document qui est précédé des lettres "PS" ou tout autre document ne figurant pas dans ce catalogue vous devez vous servir de la formule de commande blanche.

BUSINESS EDUCATION

1. Jennings, W.H. and Zuber, Thomas G. Canadian Law. 4th ed. Toronto: McGraw-Hill Ryerson Ltd., 1986.

   This revised edition of Canadian Law incorporates recent changes in Canadian law including a chapter dealing with the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms. The text identifies for students the legal ramifications to personal rights and freedoms as set down by the Constitution and creates a greater awareness of their responsibilities and rights as Canadians. There is an increased emphasis on Criminal Law to provide interest, motivation, and a practical understanding of laws pertaining to such things as drug offences and theft.

   The photographs and illustrations are new, making the text more relevant to the student.

   The revised edition comes with a new Student Learning Guide and a Teacher's Manual and Key.

2. Murphy, Terry et al. The World of Business: A Canadian Profile. 2nd ed. Toronto: John Wiley & Sons, 1987.

   This text is an introduction to the world of business in the Canadian environment. Its purpose is to help the student understand how Canadian business operates and how it affects all of us as consumers or as employees.

   This second edition retains the basic features of the first edition, but the text has been completely updated, new features have been added, and most chapters have been rewritten to reflect business conditions in the latter part of the 1980s.

   This second edition contains chapter objectives and summaries, outlining and highlighting key points in each chapter. The end-of-chapter material has been expanded and two new features have been included: Business Facts and Business Profiles--these information sections appearing throughout the text are designed to spark interest and discussion among students.

   The text presents current business practices and new material has been added to cover the fields of computers and electronics as well as a section dealing with public and crown corporations, small businesses and franchising has been included. The sections on personal communications and electronic technology in business communications are new. Other subjects which have been added or updated are communism and free enterprise, insurance, consumer relations and career options.

   This text comes with a revised Teacher's Guide and a Student Workbook.

3. Pansegrau, Gary E., Foote, James H. et al. Century 21 Accounting: Introductory Course. 2nd ed. Toronto: Gage Educational Publishing, 1987.

   This is a revised edition of a textbook that is the first in a two-volume series. Century 21 Accounting: Introductory Course is followed by Century 21 Accounting: Advanced Course. This introductory text is for students who have a variety of career objectives. Some students desire beginning vocational preparation for careers in accounting, others look forward to careers in related fields for which mastery of some accounting knowledge and skill is needed, and still others seek a foundation for the study of business and accounting at a higher level.

   This text retains the logical simple-to-complex spiral approach to learning. Study progresses from the complete accounting cycle for a sole proprietorship, to the accounting cycle for a partnership, to the accounting cycle for a corporation. The spiral approach is also used to introduce accounting forms and records.

   General behavioural goals are listed for each part of the text and performance tasks are outlined at the beginning of each chapter. End-of-chapter practice materials provide various levels of difficulty. There are drills and applications problems for all students. The text is well illustrated.

   Support material includes working papers and study guides, and a teacher's manual. Supplemental learning packages may be used as business simulations and practice sets. Also available are business applications that can be used with a microcomputer.

   The teacher's manual contains objective tests, problem tests and two semester examinations.

4. Samson, Harland E. and Little, Wayne G. Visual Merchandising-Planning and Techniques. 2nd ed. Cincinnati, OH: South Western Publishing, 1985.

   This revised edition replaces Display, Planning and Techniques. The authors present the competencies needed for successful planning and implementation of visual merchandising. The emphasis is on the "why" and "how" of effective displays. The examples used are practical and realistic and are drawn heavily from those applications common to consumer goods or service businesses. This text-workbook includes a new section on point-of-purchase displays, specific competency statements for each section, as well as new illustrations. A teacher's manual is available.

MATHEMATICS

1. Coombs, Betty and Harcourt, Lalie. Explorations 1. (Kindergarten, Grades 1 and 2). Don Mills, ON: Addison-Wesley, 1986.

   Explorations 1 is a teacher resource book. It provides for a complete mathematics program for grades kindergarten, 1 and 2. This activity-based program makes it possible to put the theory of experiential learning into practice. Activities are carefully sequenced to promote the development of concepts in each of the main strands of primary mathematics: Problem Solving, Number, Measurement, Operations, and Geometry.

2. Connelly, Ralph D. et al. Journeys in Math. (Kindergarten to Grade 6). Scarborough, ON: Ginn, 1986.

   The kindergarten to grade two programs contain teacher resource manuals and teaching aids (blackline masters). The grades one and two packages contain an additional support material called Working Together Books (teacher edition).

   The grades three to six programs contain student texts with teacher editions and blackline masters as support materials.

   The series is organized to facilitate the implementation of a conceptual program sensitive to the different developmental levels of students. Introductory activities are used to review prerequisite concepts and skills; to provide background experiences, and to present the new vocabulary necessary to introduce a concept. Activities and exercises are provided to reinforce the concepts and skills at each level of development. A problem-solving component is integrated into the series from kindergarten to grade six.

3. Dolciani, Mary et al. Algebra: Structure and Method. (100 and 200 levels). Markham, ON: Houghton Mifflin, 1986.

   The texts are supported by teacher's editions and practice masters, tests and computer activities manuals.

   Mathematical concepts are developed in depth at the target student's reading level. Throughout the books there are sections called "Reading Algebra." These sections deal with such topics as problem solving strategies and learning new notation.

   Each lesson in the textbooks is followed by oral and written exercises. Some lessons also have optional computer exercises. Within each chapter there are self-tests with answers provided at the end of each text. Each chapter contains a chapter review. The texts contain cumulative and mixed reviews.

4. Dykeman, Ken et al. Teacher's Source Book. (Grade 2). Scarborough, ON: McGraw-Hill Ryerson, 1986.

   Source Book 2 is a collage of ideas, games and activities for teaching mathematics to grade two children.

   Mathematics lessons begin by relating numbers to real things in the children's world. Therefore, concrete materials are required. In each lesson, the children progress from concrete to semi-concrete to abstract representations of the mathematical idea. One or more blackline masters give the children practice in using pictorial and abstract forms of the concept. They help to assist in evaluating each child's grasp of the concept.

5. Kelly, Brendan et al. Math Quest. (Grades 1 to 3). Don Mills, ON: Addison-Wesley, 1986.

   Math Quest is an innovative elementary mathematics program that is built upon an understanding of how children learn.

   The key objectives of the series are:

   a) to provide concrete to symbolic developmental learning
   b) to facilitate the implementation of the activity-based program
   c) to establish opportunities for children to verbalize and internalize mathematical language, ideas and concepts
   d) to enable students to encounter experiences in Mathematics that will enhance positive attitudes and influence success in the subject
   e) to facilitate continuous evaluation
   f) to develop problem-solving skills and strategies
   g) to integrate mathematics learning across the curriculum

   Teacher editions are provided as a support for all grades.

6. Ebos, Frank and Zolis, Paul. Math Matters. Book 3. (301 level). Scarborough, ON: Nelson Canada, 1987.

   The content consists of skill development sections, basic algebra, trigonometry, introductory statistics, geometry and consumer mathematics.

   Each section contains review, practice and problems sections as well as a practice test. In addition there are calculator/career/computer/consumer/math tips activities.

   The lessons follow a general pattern throughout the text.

   a) The lesson topic is introduced with new terms in bold letters.
   b) The particular skill is demonstrated in examples and solutions.
   c) Hints and explanatory notes are in red.
   d) "Try These" identify key skills in preparation for the written exercises.
   e) Written exercises provide practice and application of skills. The exercises are garded in A, B and C order of challenge.
   f) The "Applications" sections are clusters of theme-related problems.

7. Ridge, H. Laurence et al. Mathschope 3. (Grade 9). Scarborough, ON: Prentice-Hall, 1986.

   Mathscope 3 has been designed to meet the needs of a more mature student audience.

   The topics and activity sections are underscored in blue. The concepts are developed step by step in a readable and sequential order.

   The sections in each chapter are numbered. They consist of:

   a) Introduction to the topic
   b) Usefulness of mathematical topic
   c) Emphasis on new terms
   d) Examples with step-by-step solutions
   e) Hints
   f) Other ways of answering a question

SCIENCE

1. Andrews, William A. et al. Discovering Biological Science. Scarborough, ON: Prentice-Hall, 1983.

   This text adequately covers most of the core topics in the Manitoba Biology 201-301 course. The endocrine system and protein synthesis are superficially or indequately covered. Some optional topics such as support and movement, basic ecology and disease-causing organisms are also supported. The text provides both content and applications. A large number of laboratory activities is integrated into the text. The reading level is satisfactory for the average high school student. A teacher's edition is available.

2. Burton, D. and Leith, E. Crystals, Minerals, and Rocks. Winnipeg, MB: Manitoba Education, 1987.

   This document is designed for the use of teachers. Both background information for teachers and laboratory activities for students are included. The teacher can use diagrams and maps provided within the materials in order to develop the topic. In addition, sources for laboratory equipment and other resources are identified.

3. Smoot, Robert C. et al. Chemistry: A Modern Course. Canadian Edition. Toronto, ON: Merrill Publishing, 1987.

The Canadian edition of Chemistry: A Modern Course includes SI as accepted by the Metric Commission of Canada, Canadian examples and references to scientists. The structure and organization of the text is the same as the American edition, however, there has been some rewriting of the topics and problems. The core topics of the Manitoba Chemistry 200-300 course are adequately covered, however, the development of some topics does not follow the sequence suggested in the curriculum guide. Sample problems are presented where appropriate. In addition, information about scientists and chemical technology is presented at the end of a number of chapters. The reading level is appropriate for the average Chemistry 200 student. A teacher's guide is available. Solving Problems in Chemistry is a supplementary source of additional problems and exercises.
